Throughout biblical history, God’s people have experienced transitions that challenged their current state and pointed toward a future that wanted to happen in the eternal purposes of God. The nascent 21st century is just such a time. Tectonic cultural shifts are creating tsunamis of uncertainty and disillusionment that strain our institutions, expose our divisions, and test the Church’s readiness to lead. Always, such breakpoints demand a revived focus and renewed dedication to the truth—in our case, a devotion to the ancient and unchanging truths upon which Christ built His Church. As was true at previous junctures, the current transition is revealing a vanguard company of men and women who, amid upheaval and disorientation, understand the times and know what to do (1 Chron. 12:32). In Dead Prophets Society, Dr. Mark Chironna speaks to the legacy of Issachar and its place in the 21st-century Church. Methodically and scripturally, he describes how modern sons and daughters of Issachar will do what Issachar has always done: arise to the high call of God, labor on the living edge of what He is doing, and serve as His instrument of recovery and restoration, His vital, authentic, and overcoming Church.

Lorenza shows how God can use a child of little faith to show His strength. Lorenza’s book asks, What will you do? Will you repent of your sins and turn or return to God? Or will you remain in your sin and serve Satan?
